Spring 2019

Dear Model Railroader,

Welcome to the Spring 2019 Atlas ASMC consumer edition of product Announcements and Arrivals. This All Scales Monthly Catalog (ASMC) is the core of our guaranteed pre-order system. Prior to the start of supplier production, Atlas announces to authorized dealers, distributors and e-subscribers that we are ready to take orders. This notification comes in the form of Atlas' All Scales Monthly Catalog (ASMC) which focuses in on the current month's planned and specified announcements and allows consumers to place guaranteed preorders with their local hobby shop for those specific products by a given date. If you need assistance finding a dealer near you, don't forget our Hobby Store Locator! Check out the locator at <http://shop.atlasrr.com/storeLocator.aspx>. You can also view and reserve products via Atlas' online store shop.atlasrr.com.

O Scale isn't about to be outdone with runs of the O Evans Double Plug Door Box Cars and the always popular O 40' Wood Reefer. Did we mention the brand new O Operating Oil Pump and the new O scale book we'll be publishing? No? PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

Powered by a V12 FDL prime mover, the 2250 h.p. U23B was GE's intermediate-sized four-axle road-switcher of the late 1960s through the mid 1970s. The U23B's direct competitor during this period was the very successful EMD GP38. In 10 years of production, from 1968 through 1977, a total of 481 units were produced, making this the second best seller of GE's "Universal Series" locomotives. The first units were delivered to the Delaware & Hudson in August and September 1968. CSX predecessors Chesapeake & Ohio and Louisville & Nashville had a combined fleet of 120 units, giving CSX one of the larger active fleets in later years. Penn Central, Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific also purchased sizeable fleets of U23Bs.

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

In the years immediately following World War I, America's railroads required larger capacity enclosed freight cars to haul bulky loads such as furniture, large machinery, and the increasingly popular automobile from their points of manufacture to destinations across the country. The fifty foot composite "auto" boxcar, consisting of steel framing with wood sheathing and having large door openings of at least 12 feet and 10 feet of interior height was a perfect fit for those railroads, mostly western and southern, that did not have the clearance restrictions imposed initially by the tunnels and existing trackwork of the northeast. These forerunners to the modern enclosed autorack were frequently reconfigured throughout their lifetimes, and could be found with a mixed variety of features, such as Evans autoloader racks, different side door styles, optional "drive in" end doors, roof designs and overall height to enable the rapid loading and unloading of not only automobiles, but whatever commodity the railroad required.

MASTER MODEL FEATURES:

- Available in end-door or standard end configurations
- Crisp painting and printing
- Separately applied side doors
- Free rolling trucks
- Knuckle couplers

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

The development of shipping containers reached a turning point in the late 1970s when standardization began to take place. Prior to this time numerous designs and sizes of containers were seen throughout the world. The true intermodal era began in the 1980s with the expanding world economy, Panama Canal ship size restrictions, intermodal railway car (wagon) designs and the setting of ISO standards for international shipping containers.

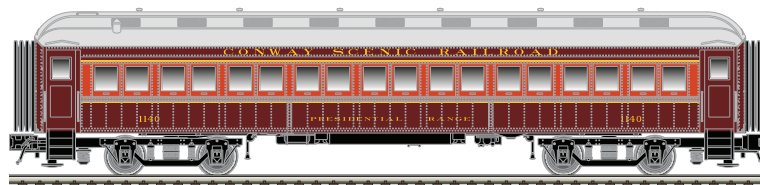

MASTER MODEL FEATURES:

- Prototypically accurate "beveled" all corrugated sides

+ Paint scheme correct for cars of a similar prototype

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

In the late 1960's, there was demand for a smaller, versatile tank car that could fit onto smaller sidings and spurs. Aptly nicknamed, "Shorty" or "Beer Can" for its diminutive size, the car is based off of an ACF® design. At the time, larger tank cars were being ordered, but there was enough demand for a smaller tank car that could meet the needs of shippers with smaller sidings and weight limits on tracks. Usually these tank cars saw service hauling corn syrup, oils, and other heavy liquids. In addition to the unique paint schemes applied to the cars, they would look great in single shipment service or in a block of 3 heading back to the processing plant.

Conrail Express

Missouri Pacific

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

Powered by a V12 FDL prime mover, the 2250 h.p. U23B was GE's intermediate-sized four-axle road-switcher of the late 1960s through the mid 1970s. The U23B's direct competitor during this period was the very successful EMD GP38. In 10 years of production from 1968 through 1977 a total of 481 units were produced, making this the second best seller of GE's "Universal Series" locomotives. The first units were delivered to the Delaware & Hudson in August and September 1968. CSX predecessors Chesapeake & Ohio and Louisville & Nashville had a combined fleet of 120 units, giving CSX one of the larger active fleets in later years. Penn Central, Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific also purchased sizeable fleets of U23Bs.

Primary spotting features include a stepped-out radiator section and two sets of three tall engine access doors near the center of the long hood. During production, the U23B was equipped with various truck side frames, including Blomberg trucks from EMD trade-in locomotives, AAR-style trucks, or GE's own four-axle "FB2" truck. One of these three truck styles is included on our model where appropriate per road name.

Today the number of active U23B's has dwindled, but a handful can still be found working for short lines and regional railroads in North America.

SOUND FUNCTIONALITY FEATURES (GOLD MODELS ONLY):

Over 20 sound effects are available, including engine start-up and shutdown, prime mover sounds through all eight notches, bell, air horn, air compressor, dynamic brakes and more. There are 16 user-selectable horns, 2 user-selectable bells, and 2 user-selectable synchronized brake squeals. Manual and Automatic Notching modes with the ability to change modes "on the fly" are provided for true realism.

AccuMate® couplers are made under license from AccuRail, Inc.

+ Prototype is a similar 56' riveted reefer

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

In 1947, REA ordered 500 of these all new steel express reefers from ACF, in an effort to handle express and parcel traffic. During the same time period, Atlantic Coast Line purchased 50. These cars were added to the front of passenger trains traveling coast-to-coast on all major railroads. These new steel express cars utilized welded construction and a new high speed truck design. They were able to carry both refrigerated loads as well as parcel loads due to their collapsible ice bunkers that were stored away when not in use.

MASTER MODEL FEATURES:

- Welded sides
- 3/3 Improved Dreadnaught Ends
- Arched Roof
- Separate ladders and grabs
- Fully detailed underframe
- Steam, Air & Signal Hoses
- Cut Levers
- Equipped with AccuMate® Knuckle Couplers

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

The development of shipping containers reached a turning point in the late 1970s when standardization began to take place. Prior to this time numerous designs and sizes of containers were seen throughout the world. The true intermodal era began in the 1980s with the expanding world economy, Panama Canal ship size restrictions, intermodal railway car (wagon) designs and the setting of ISO standards for international shipping containers.

MASTER MODEL FEATURES:

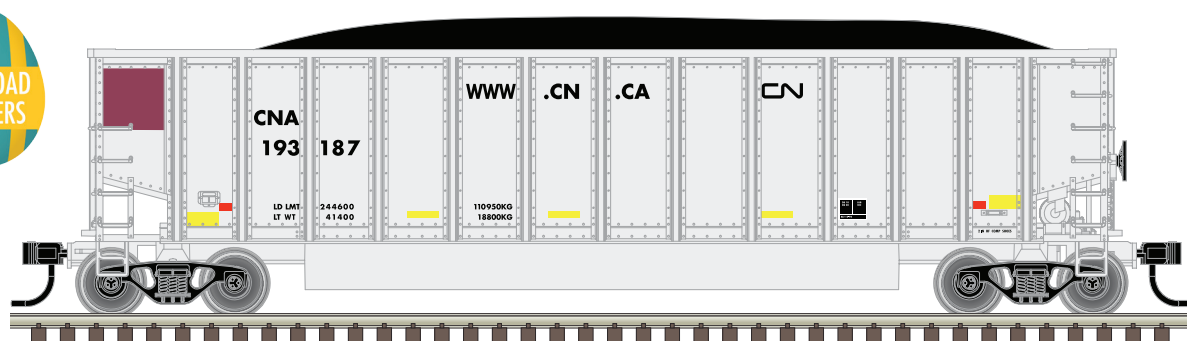

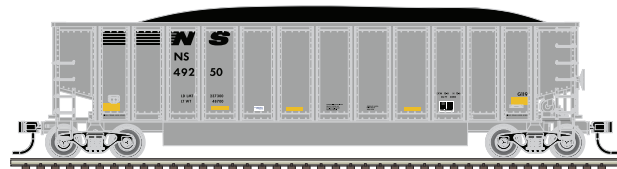

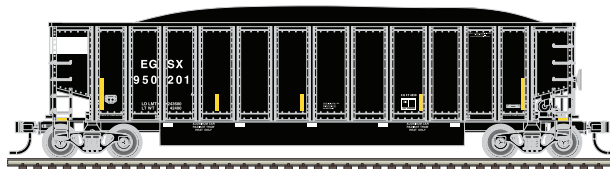

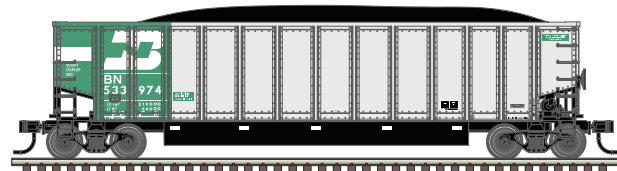

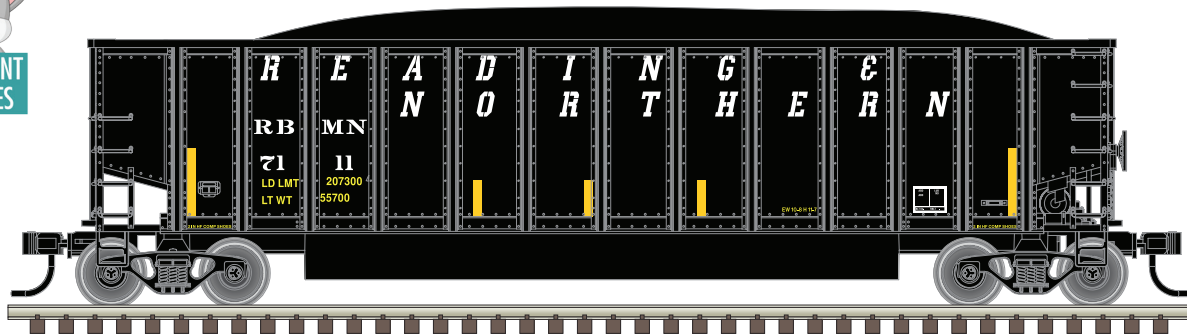

- Prototypically accurate "beveled" all corrugated sides
- Each set comes as a 3-pack (2 sets will be offered per road name)

 Free running cars - can be mixed with railroads and other private owner cars - perfect for add-on cars in a train*

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

Transporting coal on the railways has been around as long as the railways. Two major types of cars emerged for hauling coal; hoppers and gondolas. The earlier cars were made of wood, then steel, and later aluminum. The lighter weight of aluminum allows greater lading and cubic foot capacities ideal for bulk minerals transport. By the 1980s, both coal hoppers and coal gondolas were using aluminum bodies in their construction.

The Trainman® Aluminum Coal Gondola model represents a typical Association of American Railroads car type code J311, a gondola car with a load limit greater than 185,000 lbs, depressed bottom, and 36' to 48' interior length. Typical of these cars is the rotary coupler usually signified by a contrasting colour on one or, both ends. The Trainman® model has thirteen side stakes and a double tub bottom. Gross Rail Loading is rated at 286,000 lbs.

NEW AND IMPROVED!

PROTOTYPE INFORMATION:

The “nodding donkey”, or pumpjack, is a common sight across the rich oil-producing regions of the United States. Whether grouped together in fields of hundreds or standing alone, the slow rocking motion of these visible parts of the vast underground oil extraction process typically extract between 2 to 12 gallons of liquid per stroke, unattended, 24/7, every day of the year, making them extremely cost-effective to install and operate. Their unique shape and motion have also inspired generations of creative artists to add paint and sheet metal to transform many examples into whimsical creatures, which have become staples of small-town tourist attractions. This release of the Atlas Operating Oil Pump includes both standard and artist-inspired color versions, as well as a “basic black” canvas for you to create your own menagerie.

MODEL FEATURES:

- Fully Assembled and Wired
- Colorful, prototypical paint schemes
- Realistic operation
- Operates on DC or AC power (8-22V)
