Kadee voluntarily closed our office for the month of April to ensure the safety and well-being of our employees and customers. During that time we continued to receive and ship orders placed via our website <https://www.kadee.com/> as well as answer customer questions via e-mail. We thank you for your patience and support, then and now.

We have now fully reopened and production is in full swing. Since the reopening we are encouraging all customers to place their orders via our website. Not only will you have access to our accurate inventory levels, we have made it much more convenient to check order status, track packages*, review past orders, and contact us via e-mail with any questions. But rest assured; we'll always be here to answer questions and take your calls!

*Tracking only available on Priority Mail and UPS orders.

Sam the Answer Man: #160 June 2020 "We Are Open for Business"

Kadee was closed the month of April but opened again on May 4th and so we have skipped April and May's articles.

How is everyone? We hope and pray that all is well and safe for you. Please be safe, use common sense, follow advised health practices, be considerate to others, be careful and safe when out in the public, stay home or isolated when possible, and pray for those affected and in need. Pray for the science and medical professionals that are working hard to find the answers and that are constantly exposed. Pray for this world that the governments will find peace and cooperation with each other that will continue far beyond the end of this virus. We hope the food industry and warehouses will be able to catch up and will be able to actually ship products to the store locations. We also hope people in general will stop living in "panic" so the food supply system will return to a balance of "supply and demand". However, hopefully the world will learn a great deal about the (Boy) Scout Motto "Be Prepared". It's very prudent to have a supply of food and other necessary commodities to last at least a few months and perhaps a full year or more as we live in a time of far too many "what if's". Of course this is dependent upon your individual situation, income and budget, storage space, skills and abilities, health, dietary and nutritional needs, and a number of other things. Hopefully we all can learn from this experience and be better prepared for what may come next. We should live in a way that we don't have to depend on our local and federal governments in times of emergency (or anytime for that matter) this way what they may have to offer will be used for those who actually need their help. If we are independent of others help we then can offer our help to others in need. It's a simple matter of having peace of mind at being prepared for short and long term emergencies.

At the time of this article's writing Kadee is open and working full time. However, we may be "Out of Stock" on some items until we are fully caught up on production as all our model railroad products are made in house. Many of our dealers are still closed as they are considered a non essential business in their area. As many modelers are home bound, there's more time to work and play on your railroads. We are receiving more direct retail sales but we miss our dealers and really hope they will recover after being closed. Perhaps there will be many modelers that will help stimulate their recovery when they open again and we sure hope you all will help them when that happens.

This world emergency has effected all of us and has, and will, continually change our lives. However, if you read your history you'll find there have been many pandemics through the ages and many far worse (1918) than this Covid 19. To me the difference is the way the media and politicians have handled all of this which caused the most of the panic. Now since this is an election year the pandemic is being made into a political "whos to blame" issue.

It's up to us to learn from all of this and adjust and adapt to these changes then plan ahead and prepare as best you can. For those of you with some sort of religion in your lives, pray always with faith and hope in your hearts that The Lord will watch over us all and that we may follow his example and council. Peace to you all.
